PROCEDURES FOR CALLERLAB CALLER-COACH ACCREDITATION

STEP 1 – Petitioning for an Application

To qualify for formal consideration as a CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach, the petitioner is required to meet the minimum standards as outlined below:

1. The petitioner must be an active CALLERLAB Member and a CALLERLAB Certified caller.
2. The petitioner must have attended at least one CALLERLAB or MiniLab Convention.
3. The petitioner must have been calling regularly for 10 years and must have been calling on average no less than 150 hours per year for the 3 most recent years preceding the petition. The hours are a unit of time focusing on 1 form of entertainment, not limited to, but including club dances, dance parties, workshops, or new dancer lessons.
4. The petitioner must complete and sign the required Recommendation Signature Card (Attachment 1a) attesting to the above requirements, provide the essay required, along with the signatures of two current CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coaches verifying eligibility and preparedness.
5. The petitioner must obtain a completed CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Evaluation Form (Attachment 1b) from two CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coaches on different occasions.
6. The Recommendation Signature Card verifying prequalification, required essay, two completed CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Evaluation Forms, along with a non-refundable $25 U.S. funds administrative fee, must be sent to the CALLERLAB Home Office for verification and review, petitioning the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee for an application to start the CALLERLAB Caller-Coach Accreditation process.

STEP 2 – Baseline Knowledge and Skills

Once the petitioner's request and information is verified by the CALLERLAB Home Office, it will be sent to the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee Chairman who will then seek a ¾ majority approval by the existing members. If the petitioner's request is not approved, they (along with their mentors) will be notified and provided notice as to why and will be allowed to provide additional materials or evidence that may be required to proceed. Failure to follow-up on the request will result in the petitioner being removed from the accreditation process. They may start the process from the beginning again at any time. If approved, the petitioner will be notified and sent by the CALLERLAB Home Office the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Application (Attachment 2), the remaining procedures, and requirements necessary to proceed, along with the mandatory Mini-Test.

The Mini-Test serves two purposes; first, to acquaint the applicant with the types of questions on the full written examination, and second, to establish a baseline of knowledge determining strengths and weakness. The applicant must complete and return the completed Mini-Test for grading and feedback, along with the completed application to the CALLERLAB Home Office. The CALLERLAB Home Office will forward the Mini-Test to a testing administrator of the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee for evaluation, who will notify the Chairman of said Committee and applicant the final results. If the applicant fails to pass the Mini-Test, the testing administrator will notify the applicant and his/her mentors of the results. At this point, the applicant has a three month period to retake another Mini-Test. Failure to retake the Mini-Test within the allotted timeframe or failure to pass the second Mini-Test will result in the applicant being removed from the accreditation process. They may opt to petition for an application again at any time starting the process from the beginning.

Upon passing the Mini-Test, the applicant is notified of acceptance by the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee Chairman, and will continue the accreditation process as a CALLERLAB Associate Trainer; a title that may be used for publication. At this point, the newly appointed CALLERLAB Associate Trainer must complete the remaining qualifications within a five year period. Failure to do so will forfeit the title and end the accreditation process. They may start the process from the beginning at any time.

STEP 3 – Document Qualifications

The CALLERLAB Associate Trainer must next compile and provide composite experience equivalent to presenting a complete training program five times, encompassing the Caller Training Curriculum Guidelines for Caller Training and Technical Supplement, currently approved by CALLERLAB. The aggregate equivalent to five complete programs may include, but is not limited to, any or all of the following.

a. Personally taught complete programs to one or more student callers.
b. Serve on staff at colleges offering the complete training program.
c. Presented the requisite subjects of the program in conjunction with:
   1. One-on-one mentor.
   2. Technical seminars
   3. Special subject lectures.
   4. Home caller training programs.
   5. Educational leadership programs.

The CALLERLAB Associate Trainer must provide a written record of the caller training they have conducted as a means of measuring minimum qualification standards. Such records should include dates, subjects taught, sponsors, and/or occasions where appropriate. The CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Chairman may determine that additional details are needed. In some instances the applicant may not have conducted a full course training program but has extensive experience over a long period of time in conducting seminars and clinics on most of the subjects covered in the Curriculum Guidelines. Supporting documentation may be required.

The CALLERLAB Associate Trainer must submit a personal syllabus of training articles, professional or technical writings, pamphlets, books and/or curriculum outlines offered to perspective new callers.

All the above documented materials are to be sent to the CALLERLAB Home Office along with a non-refundable administration fee of $75 U.S. funds to cover the cost of the next step of the accreditation process, the written examinations. The documented materials will be forwarded to the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee Chairman for confirmation and review. The CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee Chairman may request additional information in order to verify the provided documentation or correct any ambiguities. Upon verification and approval of the above documented materials, the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer is notified they may proceed to the written examination phase of the accreditation process.

STEP 4 – The Written Examinations

The written testing phase is comprised of two parts; the written exam, and the essay exam. It becomes the responsibility of the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer to coordinate with the testing administrator of the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee to make arrangements for a suitable time and place to take the full written examination. The testing administrator will select a standardized written test (one of five currently approved) to be sent to the appropriate proctor. The examination must be proctored. Therefore, the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer should allow several months to coordinate this step of the process. An alternative testing method may be offered if the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer documents reasonable needs. If the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Chairman determines that an alternative form of written test is needed, then a qualified observer would be picked to read, paraphrase, or rephrase, the test questions. If the candidate is comfortable to read the written questions, the qualified observer could then serve to record the oral response. The presence of the proctor is a safeguard against any question about impropriety.

Written Exam
The written exam is not an open book or laptop test. However, checkers may be used to verify work. The exam focuses on skills and techniques used by callers in their careers on and off the microphone. All of the questions and answers are covered in the “Curriculum Guidelines for Caller Training or the Technical Supplement”. The test is weighted according to the emphasis contained in the Guidelines. The test consists of several parts with a series of questions in one of three formats; multiple choice, true or false, or short answer. Some questions may require short choreographic answers to specific questions. The test consists of 110 questions and the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer must achieve at least 100 correct answers in order to proceed with the next step. The test is extracted from a base of many questions and made into several discreet tests so that in the event of an inadequate first performance, the applicant will be allowed to take a second test after a period of 6 months. The finished test must be returned to the testing administrator by the proctor for grading. The test results will be discussed between the testing administrator, the Chairman of the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee, the prospective Caller-Coach, and his/her mentors. The CALLERLAB Home Office will be advised as to whether the applicant passed or failed. If the test is failed, the applicant will be retested with a different test, no earlier than 6 months after the first test or opt to remove themselves from the process. If the second test is failed, the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer is removed from the accreditation process and forfeits all titles. They may re-enter the accreditation process from the beginning at any time.

Essay Exam
When it has been determined that a CALLERLAB Associate Trainer has successfully passed the full written test, the test administrator will send out 5 selected essay questions. The essay questions deal with the philosophical approaches to problems stated by the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coaches. The CALLERLAB Associate Trainer must answer the questions to the best of his/her capabilities. Upon completion of the essay exam, the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer must send the essay answers to the CALLERLAB Home Office along with a non-refundable fee of $100 U.S. funds used to cover the cost of the next phase of the accreditation process; the oral evaluation. The CALLERLAB Home Office will forward answers to the essay questions to the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee Chairman. The essay answers will be evaluated and forwarded to the oral evaluators for review. The CALLERLAB Associate Trainer will be notified by the Chairman of the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee if additional information is needed regarding the essays.

STEP 5 - THE ORAL EVALUATION

The evaluation interview is an in-depth inquiry into the applicant’s knowledge, caller-coaching experience and other attributes of the calling profession. It is a great opportunity to ascertain the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer’s technical skills before proven peers. Once the essay questions are deemed appropriate by the Chairman of the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee, the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer will be asked to submit to the same chairman a list of three to five names of current CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee and/or CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Emeritus members that they would prefer as the oral evaluators. The CALLERLAB Associate Trainer may not select any oral evaluator with prior fiscal business connections to avoid any conflict of interest or perceived bias. In general, all CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coaches and CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Emeritus may act as oral evaluators. In fairness to the applicant and the evaluators, applicants who work on staff with a CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach should not select fellow staff members as evaluators. This protects each party from undue influence and provides for a more objective view.

The CALLERLAB Associate Trainer may not be afforded his/her selected choices due to availability, though all efforts will be exhausted to secure his/her preferences. The CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee Chairman will first contact the Caller-Coaches as listed by the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer to ascertain availability. If unavailable, the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee Chairman may then inquire of other CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coaches until a selection of two or more is made. Accreditor’s may request not to test a certain individual. The CALLERLAB Associate Trainer also may request to not be tested by certain committee members.

The CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Chairman will coordinate the time and location of the oral evaluation with the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer and the agreed upon examiners. Time and place of the oral evaluation will be mutually determined by both the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer and evaluators. Expenses should be minimized and must be authorized in advance by the Chairman of the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee. Expenses in excess of $100 U.S. funds will become the responsibility of the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer.

The CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee Chairman will make available all information regarding the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer to the oral evaluators. The essay answers will be reviewed by each examiner prior to the examination and serve as a starting point for the oral evaluation. The appointed examiners will conduct the oral evaluation for the purpose of reviewing and assessing the applicant’s total qualifications for accreditation as a Caller-Coach. The CALLERLAB Associate Trainer should look at this experience as an opportunity to review strengths and determine areas where additional work may be required. One of the major benefits of the evaluation process is to help the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer refine strengths and improve on any noted weaknesses.

If the evaluators determine that the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer meets the standards that accreditation demands, they will advise the Chairman of the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee in written form that the applicant be awarded CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach status. If weaknesses are noted, at the discretion of the testers, the applicant may be approved or re-tested. In either case, the evaluators must indicate to the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer steps that should be taken to improve those weakened areas.

If oral re-testing is required, the oral testers will notify the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer and the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee Chairman. The oral re-testing should take place no later than: six months for North American callers or one year for overseas callers after the original oral exam. The oral re-test will be held with the same testers as the original oral test to verify that corrections/additions were followed and now meet the testers’ requirements. If the second oral examination is passed, the results will be sent to the CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach Committee Chairman who will inform the CALLERLAB Home Office. If the second oral examination is failed, the CALLERLAB Associate Trainer’s bid for accreditation is disapproved. They may start the process over again from the beginning at any time.

Accreditation as a CALLERLAB Caller-Coach is recognition available only to Members of CALLERLAB. Any CALLERLAB Accredited Caller-Coach who ceases to be a CALLERLAB Member in good standing shall immediately forfeit all accreditation and certification.
